The Program on Intellectual Property and the Public Interest
Established in 2001 and associated with the Glushko-Samuelson Intellectual Property Clinic, PIPPI organizes conferences and symposia on topics of current interest in the field. PIPPI’s mission is to promote balance in intellectual property law and policy.

Women and the Law Program
As the only law school started by women, WCL has a long-standing tradition of respect for the contributions of women to the law and legal education. In 1984, the Women & the Law Program was established to renew our commitment to our founding principles. The program’s long-term goals are broad and ambitious: to contribute to research and advocacy concerning women and the law; to further awareness of the way that the law affects women’s lives and women’s positions within the institutions of the legal system; to address the experiences of women within the WCL community; and to change legal education to incorporate fully the experiences of women into all aspects of the curriculum and teaching.

American University Journal of Gender, Social Policy, and the Law
The American University Journal of Gender, Social Policy & the Law was founded in 1992 to provide a forum for those interested in gender issues and feminist legal studies. In 1998, the Journal expanded its mission to include social policy as well as gender issues. The Journal publishes articles addressing social and political equality under the law and current events pieces detailing recent legal, social, and political developments. Through a holistic approach to legal analysis, the Journal strives to promote the empowerment of all individuals in society and to strengthen the role of innovative perspectives in mainstream legal scholarship. The Journal remains dedicated to providing a forum in which those of all views can engage in rewarding and challenging discourse and debate.
This program brings together scholars in Intellectual Property and Gender Studies to present innovative scholarship that unites these two fields. Building on a workshop hosted by WCL on this topic last spring, IP scholars Ann Bartow and Sonia Katyal will present their recent work exploring the intersection of these two fields. We encourage individuals interested in gender studies, intellectual property, and the intersection of these topics to attend.

Program of Events

Introduction:
Peter Jaszi
Professor of Law, Washington College of Law

Distinguished Speakers:

“Fair Use and the Fairer Sex: A Gendered Story of Copyright Law”

Ann Bartow
Assistant Professor of Law,
University of South Carolina School of Law

Professor Bartow’s scholarship primarily focuses on the intersection between intellectual property laws and public policy concerns. Professor Bartow is a graduate of Cornell University and the University of Pennsylvania Law School. She received an LL.M. in Legal Education from Temple University School of Law.

“The Intellectual Property of Gender”

Sonia Katyal
Associate Professor of Law,
Fordham University School of Law

Professor Katyal’s scholarly work focuses on intellectual property, civil rights, and new media. Her current projects study the relationship between copyright enforcement and privacy (as applied to peer-to-peer technology); and the impact of artistic expression and parody on corporate identity, advertising, and brand equity. Professor Katyal received her A.B. from Brown University in 1993, and her J.D. from the University of Chicago Law School in 1998.
